THE COXSWAIN
(synopsis)

Main hero of this story is Joca, a tiny boy, growing up in the shadow of his older, athletic brother a prosperous member of the rowing team. His greatest desire is to become a rower and therefore join the grown-up boys, but his physical frame does not allow it. Despite that fact, Joca is always around the rowers tracking all their trainings, eagerly awaiting his opportunity. Among the rowers is the chubby Coxswain, the Coach's son for whom Joca thinks he does not deserve the position.

One day during the training, when the rowers and Coach left the water, Joca could not resist the temptation and got into the unattended boat trying to prove that he was able to row also. But the water carried the boat further away and Joca lost control. First to help him was his competitor, the chubby Coxswain.
